Ripley, the county-seat of Tippah county, has about 900 inhabitants. Their railroad is na lar the super vision of Maj. C. L. Harris, one of its owners and it needs no Super visios by State officials. This town has shipped 11000 bales of cotton the past senson and is not done yet. This place, for intellectual and moral worth, public spirit and gen uine hospitality, is a model town. Its indies are refined and attractive. Its professional men possesses a high order of talent, its merchants are solid and aubstantial, its mechanics expert and thrifty, its schools are par excellence-it has neat and commodious churches, a public hall, a Female College, a male Institute, and the private res idences bear the impress of cultivated taste and home comfort. There are two Hotels where the Weary and hungry may rest and retresh themselves and a good livery stable containing nimble fleet-foot ed steeds ever ready to carry the traveler on inland journeys at short notice.
